New World Money Crisis Seen Growing

LONDON (AP) — Anxiety about the French franc rubbed off on the U.S. dollar and the British pound today as the world's top bankers assembled in Basel, Switzerland, to discuss a growing monetary crisis.

Speculators rushed to get rid of francs, dollars and pounds, switching to gold, commodities and the German mark, currently rated the safest of all paper money.

Financial commentators here said the market activity was the most fevered since the pound sterling was devalued exactly a year ago, despite official assurances that the franc will not be devalued.

The meeting in Basel was to be a routine monthly session of central European bankers. But there have been persistent rumors that the West German mark will be revalued upward from its present level of about 25 American cents, and France is expected to seek massive international support for the franc.

Swiss bankers reported they were inundated with orders for German marks. The authoritative London Financial Times reported the French money market was showing signs of panic, with private banks cleared out of marks and Swiss francs.

One factor acting against the franc was fear that France may bring back exchange control, causing the rush to switch to other freely convertible currencies or commodities. The French Finance Ministry denied it was even considering exchange control.

Another factor was the rise in the French cost of living, now running at 5 per cent a year. This inevitably made the franc's purchasing power suspect.

Search To Resume For Missing Woman

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The search was to resume today for a Perry County woman, Mary McCoy, who failed to return to her home at Rt. 1 Corning after visiting a friend.

Perry County Sheriff Tom Wilson said the 76-year-old woman, who reportedly was in ill health, was not seen after she left the neighbor's home on foot Friday.

Irish Catholics Plan Londonderry March

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Police and military troops were alerted here today after Roman Catholic leaders said they will defy a government ban and march through the city to protest alleged religious discrimination.

That, in essence, is the position the President-elect took, and made public through a top aide, after President Johnson made clear his determination to remain firmly in command until Jan. 20.

Bryce N. Harlow, an assistant to the President-elect, telephoned Johnson Thursday night, got a call back from the President Friday. And sources said Harlow had assured Johnson

NATO Warns Reds Against Military Action

New Aggression Would Trigger Grave Crisis

BRUSSELS (AP) — The 15 nations of the North Atlantic Alliance warned the Soviet Union today any further aggression in Europe or the Mediterranean would "provoke an international crisis of grave consequences."

The warning to Moscow was endorsed by all members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, including France.

The two-day meeting of the council of the alliance ended with publication of the communiqué. French approval was taken as an indication that France has closed ranks with its allies following the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia.

The communiqué said: "Members of the alliance urgently invite the Soviet Union in the interest of world peace to refrain from using force and intervening in the affairs of other states resolved to safeguard the freedom and independence of their country. They (NATO members) could not remain indifferent to any development which would endanger their security."

"It is evident that Soviet intervention having a direct or indirect influence on the situation in Europe or the Mediterranean would provoke an international crisis of grave consequences."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk indicated the tone the statement might take Friday when he said the safety of the alliance, including the United States, would be affected if the Soviets move into Yugoslavia or Austria.

Rusk also was reported to have said that a Soviet invasion of Romania would have graver consequences than the Czechoslovakia invasion.

Romania is a member of the Warsaw Pact, but has been taking an independent line recently.

Yugoslavia, though Communist for the past 20 years, has been independent of Moscow. Austria is neutral with its status guaranteed by the United States, Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union.

Some members took his remarks to mean Americans favor an extension of NATO protection to certain non-NATO states. But U.S. officials disputed such an interpretation. And unknown was how far Rusk can commit President-elect Richard Nixon.

Sidney Station Attendant Shot

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP) — After taking between $200-$300 from a young service station attendant here, one of two Negro holdup men shot and wounded him in the chest, police reported.

Rick Scott, 17, was on duty at a service station at about 2 a.m. Saturday when two men entered his office asking to use a phone. Then they robbed him. The youth later told police he never made a move and that one robber shot him deliberately.

Scott was admitted to Wilson Memorial Hospital where his condition is not considered serious. Lima police were reported assisting Sidney police in the investigation.

Mills Says Tax Surcharge Not Likely To Be Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who controls congressional tax-writing machinery has cast doubt on chances for lifting the 10 per cent income surtax, striking a note of discord among postelection Democratic pledges of cooperation with the incoming Republican administration.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said Friday there is scant likelihood of Congress permitting the 10 per cent surtax to die a natural death as scheduled June 30.

President-elect Richard M. Nixon said during the campaign the surtax was a "war tax" and should not be extended.

But Mills, D-Ark., said in a speech to the Arkansas Petroleum Council in Little Rock: "We may as well face the fact that the cessation or lessening of hostilities will bring immediate demands from all sides for additional spending on the domestic front."

Some Nixon aides have indicated the new administration might settle for a reduction in the surtax to 5 or 6 per cent if it can't block it outright.

Mills didn't mention the possibility of a reduced tax.

He said normal growth alone—not counting increased demands for domestic spending in the cities, education and other areas—will increase next year's expenditures by $7 billion to $10 billion. Government economists have estimated the surtax will raise $15.2 billion in the fiscal year ending June 30.

The speech was Mills' strongest public comment on the surtax since the election.

Three days after the election he said in an interview that a combination of a tax cut and increased federal spending would produce "an unmanageable deficit" in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

He has also differed with Nixon on another fiscal matter. The president-elect's proposals to cut back federal antipollution spending in favor of tax credits to industries who take up the slack.

Mills has called the plan "back door spending" that could cost billions more than direct spending to get the same job done.

9 Cubans Are Convicted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A former Havana baby doctor and eight other Cuban refugees were convicted Friday of conspiracy to blast ships of nations that trade with Fidel Castro's Communist regime.

Dr. Orlando Bosch was convicted on five charges. The government alleged Bosch was the mysterious Ernesto who acted as spokesman for the shadowy group known as Cuban Power, which announced violent acts, sometimes before they occurred.

Bosch also was found guilty of sending threatening telegrams to the heads of state in Spain, Mexico and England.

The U.S. District Court jury of eight men and four women also found Bosch, 42, Barbaro Balan, 42, and Jose Diaz Morejon, 26, guilty of firing on the Polish freighter Polana while it was in the port of Miami.

The lone woman on trial, Almee Miranda, 39, wept when the verdicts were read. The eight men revealed no emotion. Judge William O. Mehrrens withheld sentencing pending background investigations. Bosch could be sentenced up to 28 years in prison.

Mehrrens continued bonds at present levels, leaving six of the nine free. Bosch, Diaz Morejon and Andrews Jorge Gonzalez, 37, have been in jail, unable to post $50,000 in bail.

The others convicted, and free on bonds ranging upward from $2,500, are Marco Rodriguez Ramos, 24; Jorge Luis Gutierrez Ulla, 20; his 45-year-old father, Paulino Gutierrez, and Jesus Dominguez Benitez, 27.

Greenfield Water Emergency Over; Pumps Repaired

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A state of emergency declared here Friday night by Mayor Robert J. Ralph, because of a failure of pumps at the city water works, was lifted early Saturday when pumps were repaired and pressure restored.

The pressure had fallen to zero creating a serious water shortage. A replacement pump was obtained and installed early Saturday and the city's elevated storage tank began to fill again.

Before the repairs were made firemen were preparing to pump water from a clear well at the waterworks to restore pressure.

Little water had been available for normal usage Friday night and some water was hauled to Greenfield Municipal Hospital.

U.S. Reports More Action Inside DMZ

SAIGON (AP) — Authoritative sources said today President Nguyen Van Thieu may be sending a delegation to the Paris peace talks, which he has boycotted for two weeks.

The sources said he is ready to send a negotiating team if Washington assures it a leading role in the talks. They said he would still refuse to recognize the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, but would allow his delegation to address its remarks broadly "to the Communist side."

Officially Thieu is still on record as saying he will not send a delegation to the talks if the NLF sits as a separate negotiating entity.

Mrs. Helen Knece, mother of 18-year-old kidney transplant patient Stephen Knece, today expressed her continuing thanks to Pickaway Countians who have assisted her "in so many ways."

Meanwhile contributions continue to arrive at The Herald for the fund established to help ease the financial burden placed on the widow when a strept infection destroyed Stephen's kidneys four years ago.

Mrs. Knece noted today that cards and letters are "doing more than anything to lift Steve's spirits." Today she asked residents of the area to continue sending "cards and good wishes" to her son.

Roy H. Huffer Jr., local attorney, has offered his services in acting as administrator of the Knece Fund. However, Huffer asked that all inquiries and contributions be mailed or delivered to The Herald, c/o Box 50.

Contributions received in the morning mail today totaled $397. A $27 donation was collected in memory of the Joe Shortridge Family. Mr. Shortridge, the county's oldest resident, died earlier this week.

In addition to donations from individuals, the following clubs and organizations made contributions: Washington Twp. PTO, $100; Circleville Junior Women's Club $5; Williamsport Child Study League, $30; Scioto Chapel Women's Society, $50; Ashville Stith and Stir 4-H Club, $5; George Van Camp Co., $100.

Total of the fund now stands at $1,177.99.

Bishops' Letter Eases Birth Control Ban; Eyes Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops have offered a measure of freedom to married couples to use artificial birth control, but little immediate help to dissenting priests who clamored for them to take a stand.

In a 16,000-word compromise pastoral letter, the National Council of Catholic Bishops firmly defended Friday Pope Paul VI's continuing ban on all artificial contraception.

But, in the climax of a week of fierce debate, they said couples who break the ban will not be turned away from the church and communion.

The bishops suggested "circumstances may reduce moral guilt," although they did not go as far as listing any circumstances.

The pastoral letter, viewed as a compromise in the fierce church fight over birth control, was passed by an overwhelming 180-810 vote at the windup of a week-long conference.

The bishops' statement stirred one new dispute immediately—over the Vietnam war and the draft—and failed to silence another over priests punished for public dissent.

The Catholic hierarchy openly questioned the worth of the war and asked, "Has the conflict in Vietnam provoked inhuman dimensions of suffering?"

The bishops urged an end to the military draft in peacetime. And called for selective conscientious objection to military service for those who may feel only a specific war is unjust.

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, 75-year-old director of the draft, said the church was encroaching on politics, not voicing a religious objection.

"They want it so the individual can pick his war, and that's a political question," Hershey said.

$51 Million Space Tests Discarded

SPACE CENTER, Houston Tex. (AP) — An experiment package which America's first moon-landing crew was to distribute on the lunar surface has been discarded and replaced by three simpler experiments, space officials announced Friday.

The announcement said the Apollo lunar surface experiment package (ALSEP), developed at a cost of $51 million, will not be carried on the first moon-landing flight "because of the uncertainties involved in the workload" of the astronauts. ALSEP, a complex seven-instrument package powered by an atomic reactor, may be used in later landings.

Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, the Apollo program manager, said the first lunar landing crew will spend not more than three hours outside the lunar module, moving around on the moon's surface.

Astronaut Walter R. Cunningham told a National Press Club luncheon in Washington Friday that instead of the 22-hour initial lunar visit once contemplated, the two Apollo astronauts will mainly test the lunar module that lowers and returns them to the Apollo mother craft.

"If they get down on the moon and pick up a few rocks and get back again they will be satisfied," Cunningham said.

Instead of ALSEP, the first moon astronauts will distribute three experiments, leaving one of them on the surface only a brief time. The moon landers will continue with the already-planned tasks of collecting 80 pounds of lunar rock and photographing the surface.

Rhodesian Talks Fail; Break Up

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Talks between Britain and Rhodesia about recognition of the former colony's independence broke up today, with the main issue still unresolved.

Thomson prepared to fly to London after meeting with Smith for an hour and a half this morning.

Czechs Start Protest Strike

Power Struggle Brings Action

PRAGUE (AP) — Protest strikes were reported in suburban Prague and in Olomouc, central Moravia, as Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders waged a power struggle with pro-Soviet hardliners behind closed doors.

It was not immediately learned what action, if any, authorities planned to take. The government has banned demonstrations to try and maintain calm during a crucial party Central Committee meeting, now in its second day.

Czechoslovak military policemen with submachine guns patrolled Prague streets and informants said the Czechoslovak army's 6,000-man Prague garrison was alerted and all leaves canceled.

Armored personnel carriers were noticed at one of the small Soviet military command posts in the city, but there was no confirmation of rumors that some Soviet units had returned to Prague from permanent camps in outlying areas.

Student leaders said the reports of army and police alerts made them realize that demonstrations would be suicide. They announced plans for peaceful sit-ins, starting Sunday—one for a day to protest the ban on demonstrations, and another for up to three days if the Central Committee decisions are unfavorable.

Numerous departments of Charles University in Prague also adopted a resolution to join factory workers immediately if the workers decide to demonstrate for political reasons.

Some students said they would participate in weekend "Dubcek shifts" at factories to show support for Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek and at the same time mass together groups of workers and students.

$51 Million Space Tests Discarded

SPACE CENTER, Houston Tex. (AP) — An experiment package which America's first moon-landing crew was to distribute on the lunar surface has been discarded and replaced by three simpler experiments, space officials announced Friday.

The announcement said the Apollo lunar surface experiment package (ALSEP), developed at a cost of $51 million, will not be carried on the first moon-landing flight "because of the uncertainties involved in the workload" of the astronauts. ALSEP, a complex seven-instrument package powered by an atomic reactor, may be used in later landings.

Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, the Apollo program manager, said the first lunar landing crew will spend not more than three hours outside the lunar module, moving around on the moon's surface.

Astronaut Walter R. Cunningham told a National Press Club luncheon in Washington Friday that instead of the 22-hour initial lunar visit once contemplated, the two Apollo astronauts will mainly test the lunar module that lowers and returns them to the Apollo mother craft.

"If they get down on the moon and pick up a few rocks and get back again they will be satisfied," Cunningham said.

Instead of ALSEP, the first moon astronauts will distribute three experiments, leaving one of them on the surface only a brief time. The moon landers will continue with the already-planned tasks of collecting 80 pounds of lunar rock and photographing the surface.

Czechs Start Protest Strike

Power Struggle Brings Action

PRAGUE (AP) — Protest strikes were reported in suburban Prague and in Olomouc, central Moravia, as Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders waged a power struggle with pro-Soviet hardliners behind closed doors.

It was not immediately learned what action, if any, authorities planned to take. The government has banned demonstrations to try and maintain calm during a crucial party Central Committee meeting, now in its second day.

Czechoslovak military policemen with submachine guns patrolled Prague streets and informants said the Czechoslovak army's 6,000-man Prague garrison was alerted and all leaves canceled.

Armored personnel carriers were noticed at one of the small Soviet military command posts in the city, but there was no confirmation of rumors that some Soviet units had returned to Prague from permanent camps in outlying areas.

Student leaders said the reports of army and police alerts made them realize that demonstrations would be suicide. They announced plans for peaceful sit-ins, starting Sunday—one for a day to protest the ban on demonstrations, and another for up to three days if the Central Committee decisions are unfavorable.

Numerous departments of Charles University in Prague also adopted a resolution to join factory workers immediately if the workers decide to demonstrate for political reasons.

Some students said they would participate in weekend "Dubcek shifts" at factories to show support for Communist party leader Alexander Dubcek and at the same time mass together groups of workers and students.

It's fun to pick the bones of the Thanksgiving turkey, or to be around for the tasty meals planned from the left-overs of the Thanksgiving feast. Even the best guessers or managers cannot guess how big or how little appetites of the guests, or the family will be.

So, wise use of the left-over Thanksgiving Day food can mean a real saving in the family food budget.

After the Thanksgiving dinner, the foods left, need proper care. The meat, whether it is turkey, chicken, or beef, should be wrapped and stored in the refrigerator immediately after the meal is finished. The stuffing used should be covered and stored in the refrigerator separate from the meat itself. Leftover gravy and vegetables should be refrigerated also until time to re-use them.

The second or third day, your family will enjoy some of the "leftovers" or "planovers." The main idea in using the food is to give it some appeal of its own — and offer the family a menu that is appetizing, economical, and tasty. When reheating turkey and dressing, use low heat and a few drops of moisture to assure the family of hot, moist turkey and dressing. Aluminum foil aids in reheating.

Your favorite cook book will provide you with a wide variety of recipes using chicken or turkey, including: pies, creamed or scalloped dishes, salad, chowder, and even croquettes. The small pieces of turkey or chicken can be used to advantage, also. Have you tried turkeyburgers, or sandwich fillings?

Turkey rates high nutritionally. It is a valuable source of high quality protein, essential for body maintenance and growth. Turkey is also a source of several B vitamins, including Thiamine, Riboflavin, and Niacin.

For those who are more interested in convenience and ease of carving rather than in tradition, a frozen boneless turkey roll is available. The cost per pound is more than for carcass turkey, but there is little or no waste. A 5-pound boneless roast is the equivalent of a 12-15 pound turkey. It may be roasted in the oven, or cooked on the rotisserie.

"Double value" is what you give your family when you add fall vegetables to family menus, says Pauline Hall, Extension Nutritionist, The Ohio State University. Fall vegetables provide vitamin A plus eye and taste appeal. They are an economical and pleasant way to improve the family's nutrition without relying on commercial vitamin concentrates.

Deep green and deep yellow vegetables — carrots, cantaloupe, squash, pumpkin, sweet potatoes, broccoli, spinach, and other dark leafy "greens" — provide generous amounts of vitamin A. Many of them also contribute important vitamin C. One serving — about one-half cup — of one of these deep green or yellow vegetables every other day can be counted on to provide the vitamin A needed by any member of the family.

Vitamin A is one nutrient that's essential for normal growth. It also helps to maintain health in the tissues that cover the outer surface of the body and line the internal body cavities. Vitamin A is necessary for normal vision and helps prevent night blindness — the inability to see in dim light.

These vegetables give eye appeal to any meal with their attractive colors. Add tender dark green spinach leaves to a tossed salad. Brighten a plate with brilliant green broccoli or golden yellow squash baked in the dark green peel. This group of vegetables contains some that are quick cooking and some that can be served raw, so they earn a place in the quick meal, too.

For good nutrition and eye appeal, include a variety of deep green and deep yellow vegetables in family meals, Mrs. Hall recommends.

'Dynamite Bandit' Gives Self Up To Cincy Police

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 40-year-old man who turned himself in to police Friday, claiming to be Cincinnati's dynamite bandit, was to appear in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court today.

He identified himself as Denver Hall and claimed he wanted to end a life of crime and said he hoped for clemency.

Hall, who gave his address only as someplace in Kentucky, is being held on two charges of malicious entry of a financial institution in the robberies of two branches of the Fifth Third Union Trust Co. here.

A downtown branch was robbed of $2,810 on Sept. 17 and on Oct. 4, the Corryville branch was hit for $4,954. In both holdups, a man told tellers he had dynamite wired to his chest and would detonate it if they did not give him money.

Police said Hall told them the dynamite threat was phony and that he had filled hair rollers with cotton, painted red, and strapped them to his chest. Wire strands were stuck in the cotton for an added authentic effect. Hall said.

IFYE STUDENTS — Ray Noecker (left) son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Noecker, Route 1, Ashville, and Linda Lee White, Toul, Ky., talk to W. Francis Pressly just before embarking to Argentina, where they will stay for six months. They are both 4-H International Farm Youth Exchange students.

Ray Noecker Fascinated By Argentine's Eating

Ray Noecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Noecker, Route 1, Ashville, an International Farm youth exchange student has been in Argentina for nearly two months of his six month stay.

The International Farm Youth Exchange, conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation in behalf of the cooperative extension service, is a rural education program operating between the United States and about 35 countries annually.

The United States and Argentina exchange is financed by the International Minerals and Chemical Corporation.

Noecker is a graduate of Teays Valley High School and is a student at Ohio State University. He was a member of the Walnut Wonder Workers 4-H Club.

NOECKER is fascinated with the eating habits of the people of his host country.

Argentines say that "In the United States one eats to live but in Argentina one lives to eat," Noecker reports.

Argentines eat four meals a day — breakfast, lunch, a small meal in the early evening and then dinner.

Breakfast is very simple and usually consists of "coffee con leche" or a large cup of coffee made with hot milk, and bread, the Pickaway Countian explains. The breakfast is kept very simple to facilitate preparation by each member of the family.

Lunch is a large meal and may start by each person preparing his own large salad from a whole tomato, one pepper, one onion, one cucumber topped with a dressing of vinegar and olive oil. The meal usually lasts more than an hour with salad, main course, soup and desert.

The early evening meal, usually served at 6 p.m., consists of coffee made with milk, bread and butter, a sweet pastry. The meal is eaten rather rapidly by the Argentine standard because it requires less than one half hour.

THE final meal for the day is about the same as the meal at noon, with salad, main course, soup and desert. It requires a little more time to eat.

The meals themselves are not greatly different from what Noecker is accustomed to eating. The difference lies in what happens before the meal. It is not uncommon for the family to start to eat an hour before the meal," Noecker says.

Pickaway Grange

Loring Leist was installing officer when Washington Grange officers took over their new positions recently.

Mrs. Kenneth Rinehart, worthy master, was in the chair for the business part of the meeting. Reports of past chairmen were given.

Frank R. Lands, incoming worthy master, announced the committees for the coming year.

The December meeting will be a Christmas party with a traditional gift exchange.

Each family is to bring either cookies or candy for refreshments. Beverage will be furnished by lunch committee. Refreshments were served.

Hog Farrowings Up 5 Per Cent

Increased Production Means Lower Prices

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

There has just been released some interesting statistics in regard to the swine situation.

Sow farrowings, one of the best indicators of future marketings, were up 5 percent for June through August of 1968 from the same period in 1967. Pigs raised per litter for this period was 7.39 or practically the same as last year.

Sows to farrow during the September - November period show an increase of 4 percent from the same period last year.

Expected farrowing for December - February period also shows a 4 percent increase. There was 1 percent more hogs on feed September 1, 1968, than the same period last year.

SINCE 1963 live hog prices, retail beef prices and retail broiler prices have all followed the same price trend. In 1963 and 1964, they all declined, in 1965 and 1966, they increased, and in 1967 they showed a decline.

Hog prices are expected to decline for the remainder of the year. The large number of 60-pound and less weight class, as of September 1, will be marketed during this period. The decline in price is expected to average around $1.00 per hundred on live hogs.

A 5 percent increase in 1969 May to June farrowings could mean $16.00 per cwt. in the fall of 1969.

Some practices that farmers might adopt for this period would be: to sell hogs at weights which bring top market prices; the breeding herd should not be increased because of low corn prices; farmers should watch the market daily and avoid daily price drops. The need of number one market hogs is of great concern, so farmers should use breeding stocks that will produce "meaty" slaughter animals.

GOP To Caucus On House Officers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican Ohio House members will caucus Nov. 25 to nominate officers for the legislative session beginning in January.

Rep. Ralph E. Fisher R - 24 Wayne, dean of GOP representatives, called Friday for the caucus in the House chambers.

Mature male chimps sometimes show persistent friendships. Adult females do not.

said, "We thought we had it made."

But so far it has cost more than $3,000, wrecked the family patio, driven some neighbors away, and landed them in court.

The family followed the seepage to a storage cellar where they found a pool of crude oil. It turned out this came from a well drilled in 1911 and abandoned in 1924.

The first sign of disaster came when they called refineries to find out how much the oil was worth.

"They all said they were committed to certain companies, that we were independent operators and they couldn't buy from us," said Richard Weinsieder, a 17-year-old son.

A petroleum geologist checked the well and said he doubted whether it would ever pay to try to make it productive again.

Weinsieder, the elder, a bread salesman, had to pay $2 a barrel to have the celler pumped out and 150 barrels of oil trucked away.

Then as the oil kept coming, the family paid $2,500 to a drilling company to dig a hole in the yard and find the well, a tenant moved out because of oil odors and gurgling sounds, a neighbor filed suit because her tenant also moved out, chunks of the patio broke loose because of underground pressures and the Weinsieders learned it would cost them $20,000 to cap the well properly.

The family also found out that the well was drilled and deserted by Associated Oil Co., which later became part of the Getty Oil Co. They hired an attorney who filed a $375,000 negligence suit against the company.

"The oil company reaped the benefits from the oil well years ago," said Jerome Benzik, the lawyer. "Why should the Weinsieder family, who purchased the home only two years ago, now have to suffer from the oil company's negligence?"

A Getty oil spokesman said: "We were the corporate predecessor involved in that portion of the old Salt Lake Oil Field, but we've no interest in the field for 44 years."

Yale Plans Coed System

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale college has approved a proposal to admit women beginning in September 1969.

Student objections to housing arrangements proposed for the women, however, may postpone implementation of coeducation at the college, according to Yale University President Kingman Brewster Jr.

The proposal was given final approval Thursday by some 200 faculty members. Only one vote was cast against Brewster's proposal.

Brewster's plan calls for 500 young women to be admitted next fall, half as freshmen and half as upperclass transfer students. Under the plan the freshmen girls were to be housed together in one of Yale's 12 residential colleges. The other 250 girls were to live off campus in nearby homes and apartments.

At a tumultuous meeting Thursday night students said the plan would mean "segregation" for women at Yale. They demanded alternatives that would mix the coeds into the university community on a more "equitable" basis.

Household Scripture

SHAUGH PRIOR, England (AP) — Helping his wife wash the dishes, the Rev. John Eyrnell protested, "This isn't a man's job."

"Oh yes it is," his wife retorted, quoting II Kings 21:13. " . . . And I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipes a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down."

Describing the incident in his parish magazine, the minister said he was so surprised he dropped the plate.

By MARILYN BARR

The Teays Valley Future Farmers of America is composed of the boys in high school taking vocational agriculture.

Meetings are conducted on a parliamentary procedure basis so that students involved become familiar with the correct business procedure and operation of a meeting.

Some of the activities of the FFA include parliamentary procedure contest, public speaking, land and soil judging, livestock judging and tractor trouble-shooting contests.

There are 62 members in this year's FFA. Mr. Gene Houser is the advisor. Officers of the organization are Dick Smith, president; Mike Schiff, vice president; Don Bell, secretary; Dwight Presler, treasurer; Sam Runkle, sentinel; Keith Roese, reporter; and Rick Davie, student advisor.

The first year students are named "greenhands." They were initiated at the Oct. 28 meeting. The new initiates were John Brady, Jack Brinker, Rick Clifton, Brad Craiglow, Frank Fout, Keith Lemaster, Jerry Moody, Bill Nyhart, Don Peters, Randy Spangler, Jon Taylor, Bob Thompson and Charles Worthington.

LEUKEMIA BREAK? — David Zeissett, 2, romps it up on his mother's lap in Madison, Wis., after receiving a bone marrow transplant, a bit from his sister. It is believed that such operations may lead to a cure for leukemia. The Zeissetts are from Chatham, N.Y. The operation was performed in University of Wisconsin Hospital.

WIFE OF A MASON

DEAR WIFE: Consider yourself fortunate to be married to a man whose word means something. And quit pestering him to reveal the lodge secrets or you'll lose your Mason by degrees.

DEAR ABBY: The boy who sits in front of me in history is very smart and gets 100s on almost all his tests. I was stuck during a test last week and asked him for some answers. He gave them to me wrong! I didn't know it until we got our papers back. He got 100 and I got 65! I was plenty mad and told him I thought he was a dirty cheat. I admit I wasn't very honest to ask him for the answers, but don't you think he was twice as dishonest to have purposely given them to me wrong?

CHEATED

DEAR CHEATED: Don't expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.

DEAR ABBY: I have often read letters in your column about women who were worried about their husband's being unfaithful. Well I am one woman who is not worried. In fact, I am all for it.

You see, my husband's capacity for love making is far greater than mine, and rather than force himself on me night after night, he attempted to divert his energies to various other hobbies. The hobbies didn't help, so he eventually took up drinking, and was well on his way to becoming an alcoholic before I realized his problem.

We discussed it, and I told him I would rather have him out playing the field than killing himself with the bottle. He agreed and complied with my request, and it has made a new man out of him.

His other women aren't taking anything away from me. In fact, they are doing me a favor. I am grateful for other women.

CONTENT

DEAR CONTENT: If you are so sure of yourself in this strange love, why are you blabbing about it? I don't advise your system.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is not speaking to his parents because last Sunday we invited them for 12 o'clock noon dinner. They didn't show up, but at around 1:45 p.m. my husband's sister phoned to say that Mom had unexpected company and they couldn't make it.

My husband thinks they should have told the unexpected company they were sorry but they had a previous dinner invitation and had to leave. What do you think?

A.H.

DEAR A.H.: I think your husband is right. And I also think your husband should start speaking to his parents. If only to tell how he feels and get it off his chest.

Doctor Augmentation

One more eminent American physician calls for an end to the rigid educational structure involved in the creation of a modern doctor, to more effectively meet the changing needs of society.

Dr. Andre Carney, president of the American Society of Abdominal Surgery, sees the answer as a proliferation of doctors, with some accepted with less training than at present required.

Doctors now need from eight to 14 years of study before they are permitted to practice. The years of preparation required, and the cost related to them, undoubtedly are the main reasons more young persons are not attracted to the medical profession.

To overcome this objection and make some major strides toward alleviating the serious shortage of doctors, it has been suggested that a new profession of junior doctors be established to provide an army of competent persons trained to treat the more common ailments. These people would have perhaps four to six years training and study.

Dr. Carney advocates such an innovation. "We'll see doctors of lesser training to care for the lesser ailments," he predicts, "doctors who are trained in surgical procedures and so on, but we're going to have to break it down somewhere."

"We're not producing enough doctors to take care of people in general and too many doctors are going into specialties which are already overloaded," he added.

Perhaps this approach offers a solution to the worsening ratio of doctors to patients. It makes little sense to waste valuable training and scarce time on commonplace and uncomplicated areas of medicine doctors find themselves inundated by at all levels of training.

Maligned Politicians

An axiom quoted frequently by political observers is that the people get the kind of government they deserve.

Actually, the task of being a good politician at every level from the local to national is more demanding than most professions. But politicians operate under the constant glare of publicity. Mistakes loom large while successes frequently go unnoticed.

In other professions — business, medicine, the law, science, teaching — mistakes can be, and frequently are, covered up without heavy damage to the reputations of the persons who make them.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A riddle with serious consequences for all exists in international trade. It exists partly because one nation's solution to economic problems frequently causes disruption in another.

The tangled affairs involve balances of payments, which are nothing more than the differences between a nation's receipts from abroad and bills owed abroad. It's sort of a checkbook balance.

The United States, for example, has an imbalance because it spends more overseas than it receives in return from foreign nations. American industries export more than they import, but military bills and foreign aid help tip the scales the wrong way.

It seems that the simplest solution for a nation with such an imbalance is to declare that it intends to spur exports to other countries and cut imports and That's exactly what several nations are doing now, but none will succeed if the other nation's won't buy. The other nations might have the same idea.

The problem of these economies is the same as that of the individual who sees the bills piling up and decides he'll just have to work overtime to pay them off. But he's not going to succeed if the potential purchaser of his services is involved in a financial hold-down, trying to cut his own expenses.

This week the relationship of one economy to another seemed to be getting badly out of joint again, and the international monetary scene began to remind people of events just one year ago.

At that time Britain was running consistently high bills abroad, the reason being that it was importing more than it was exporting. Just as any individual can, so can a nation pile up bills. But there's a day of reckoning.

For Britain that day came when few foreigners wanted to accept British pounds. They weren't worth $2.80, much of the world said. If we're to accept your pounds, they told Britain, you'll simply have to give us more of them.

Britain was forced to admit as much officially. It devalued the pound to $2.40, meaning that an exporter now gets more pounds for sales to Britain than was the case a year ago.

As a more permanent solution, Britain cut back its economy. It put clamps on domestic consumption so as to cut imports. And simultaneously it urged Britains to work harder so as to sell more goods abroad. The United States also was confronted with a similar situation, but it did not need to devalue. Nevertheless, the country is in the midst now of what is expected to be a long campaign to spur exports and cut down on imports.

But now the problems. France was one of the nations that had demanded that Britain cut back. And France also was one of the most outspoken in demanding that the United States get its books in balance.

Now France has fallen on troubled days. Its workers got fed up with denying themselves so the nation could sell its inexpensive goods abroad. They demanded and received big pay increases, thus adding to the price of goods.

Since French products now cost more than a few months ago, French goods are going to be less acceptable to foreign buyers. Since French workers have money to spend, foreign nations will be exporting more to France.

France, therefore, joins the United States and Britain as three major nations greatly worried about running up bills abroad. Since they all have the same problem, trade with each other isn't going to be much help.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN A RECENT potentate renounced his throne and vamoosed to Europe with twenty "dancing girls" and about forty million berries in Swiss currency, a witty journalist commented, "There is one king who could abdicate and eat it, too!"

Possibly you've encountered, in your reading or dealings in political affairs, the name of Charlie Regan. Well, there is no such man. Author William Safire, in his scintillating "The New Language of Politics," writes, "Every political organization must turn down hordes of well-meaning volunteers without offending them. Horrible campaign songs, meaningless slogans and ridiculous pamphlets are submitted—and must be rejected in a way that will not diminish enthusiasm. Hence the phrase, 'We'll give you a firm go-ahead just as soon as Charles Regan gets back!'"

Of course, he never does get back—because he doesn't exist. (Jim Hagerty, White House Press Secretary under Eisenhower, recalls "OUR Charles Regan went by the name of Frank Pierce.")

QUOTEABLE: "Always do a little more each day than is expected of you—and pretty soon you'll discover that more is expected of you." —Sunshine Rodgers.

"The WILL of the people is mighty important. The WON'T of the people is even more important." —Eamon Andrews.

"The only motorist who never runs out of gas is the back seat driver." —Cassius Manges.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Some of the most remarkable advances in modern medicine have been made possible by scientists in fields far removed from medicine itself. Surgery of the heart, transplantation of hearts and kidneys could only have been accomplished because engineers, chemists and tool manufacturers have contributed their knowledge to the doctors and surgeons. Without the heart-lung machine, heart surgery would be impossible. Without the kidney machine the dread disease of uremia would still take the lives of thousands. Medicine is an inter-science study that depends on complete cooperation of specialists in all medical, paramedical, social and engineering sciences.

One of the aims of all modern medicine and surgery is to return the sick person to normal productivity. The specialty of rehabilitative medicine devotes itself to attaining this objective.

From the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in cooperation with local hospitals came the news that amputees would soon be using artificial arms with complete control almost in the same way as normal arms are moved at will. The new device — an outgrowth of an American and Russian cooperative study — uses tiny electrical vibrations from the muscles above the amputated hand. Now it is possible for a person with such a handicap to make a purposeful movement without having to depend on electrical machinery from an outside source. The electricity within the stump muscles activates a battery which powers the arm into movement.

Soon this and more elaborate devices will be available to all the handicapped. Then it is hoped that the social and psychological advances will keep pace with these brilliant discoveries so that more and more handicapped people will be employed and given back their normal, rightful heritage to live and work in dignity.

New horizons are opening for the treatment and control of schizophrenia, the severe mental illness which once kept thousands of people incarcerated in mental institutions. Before the recent understanding that chemical changes in the body and brain may be the cause of this con-

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Soon after a man passes his 40th birthday he begins asking himself wryly, "When does the fun begin?"

He feels afflicted with antiquity and premature enfeeblement. Like most people, he tends to regard middle age as a punishment or a plight rather than as a normal condition and part of a well-lived life.

But middle age, like any other period of existence, has its peculiar rewards as well as its perils.

"What rewards could middle age possibly offer?" asks the skeptic.

Well, for example: Your feet feel so much better when you take your shoes off at the end of the day.

Yawning becomes one of your favorite forms of exercise. It is no longer necessary for you to break your bones skiing or playing touch football.

Your wife has probably obligingly quit bearing infants and you don't have to subsidize a diaper laundry. You can use the money thus saved to get your teeth fixed.

By now you are pretty familiar with your digestive system. You know which foods agree with you and which ones will start a war in your stomach.

As you no longer waste much time writing love letters, you are free to write more constructive letters to your congressman on how to improve his conduct in office.

You don't have to look out the window in the morning to see what the weather is like. By the way your bones feel when you wake up, you know whether it's a nice day out or not.

It isn't so imperative for you to rush to buy the newest novel or see the latest play everyone's talking about. Your common sense tells you that no book or drama is going to reveal much about life to you that you don't already know or secretly suspect.

If you haven't already acquired a chronic ailment of some kind to make your world more interesting, don't brood about it. You probably soon will.

If you haven't caught up with the Joneses, you decide you don't really like their style of living—so why try to keep up with them?

You no longer are tempted to grow a beard—you realize it would come out gray or a mottled white.

At the office the boss doesn't expect you to come up with a new world-shaking idea every day. One new world-shaking idea a year will keep you on the payroll nicely.

Slowly but steadily you turn from tarnished sinner into varnished saint as you lose the energy to pursue old bad habits and the desire to acquire new ones. The possibility emerges that you may yet become the kind of man your mother hoped you'd be.

Yep, those are the rewards of middle age, and though they may not be breathtaking they are worth having. The thing about middle age is—if you don't make the best of it, it will make the worst of you.

On this date—

In 1776, during the American Revolution, the British captured Ft. Washington on the Hudson River.

In 1907, Oklahoma became the 46th state to enter the union.

In 1904, the Federal Reserve banks were formally opened.

In 1944, six Allied armies began a great offensive drive in France, Germany and the Netherlands during World War II. In 1944, in fighting in the Pacific, American forces seized the Mapi Islands off the northwest coast of New Guinea.

In 1953, former President Harry S. Truman made a nationwide broadcast to rebut charges that he had appointed an alleged Communist spy, Harry Dexter White, to high government office.

Ten years ago... Political opponents of French Premier Charles de Gaulle were routed in elections for the National Assembly.

Five years ago... Following an appeal by President John F. Kennedy, the Soviets released a Yale University professor, Frederick Barghorn, who had been jailed on espionage charges.

One year ago... There were demonstrations in Turkey after fighting on Cyprus had taken the lives of 23 Turkish Cypriots.

Birth Rate Down

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia last year had the lowest birth rate since the republic was founded in 1918. A report of the Statistical Office said in 1967 for each 1,000 inhabitants 15.1 babies were born.

The country's lowest birth rate so far was in 1937 at the height of the depression, with 16.7 births for 1,000 persons.

Artistic Freedom

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Oscar-winning Delbert Mann, one of the pioneering directors of television drama, is returning to television after a considerable absence. Why?

"Because I can find in television the artistic freedom that isn't available in films right now," replied the Kansas-born director.

Mann, a tall, sandy-haired man who directs in a quiet, persuasive manner, was one of a galaxy of new directors who came to films out of television's golden era of drama. His springboard was "Marty," which he said Mann. "But the biggest lure was the artistic freedom the low-budget film version, which it afforded. After we won Oscars for him, the film best picture of 1955—and Delbert Mann, 'Bachelor Party,' 'Separate Tables,' 'Lover Come Back' and 'That Touch of Mink' were among Mann's other films.

A year and a half ago, producer Fred Brogger came to Mann with the proposal to film a new version of the children's classic drama was "The Tunnel," "Heidi" in Switzerland for a television special. "Hell, yes," the director answered.

Mann agreed with Brogger and his partner, actor James Franciscus "Mr. Novak", to direct "Heidi," and NBC came in on the deal. The show was filmed last fall in the Swiss Alps, at Lubeck, Germany, and in studio Hamburg with Maximilian Schell, Jean Simmons, Michael Redgrave, Walter Slezak and newcomer Jennifer Edwards in the title role. It will appear on NBC Sunday evening.

"One reason I did 'Heidi' was because of the challenge of bringing it up to date and shooting it on a reasonable budget ($900,000) in the actual locales," said Mann. "But the biggest lure was the artistic freedom which it afforded. After we agreed on the budget and the stars, there was no creation control exhibited by NBC or the sponsor. We just went away and shot it. You can't ask for more freedom than that."

Mann recently finished directing a CBS Playhouse, "Saturday Adoption," which will appear Dec. 4. His last television drama was "The Tunnel," which starred Richard Boone television special. "Hell, yes," the director answered.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

A series of low pressure centers have dampened the weather scene over Ohio.

The first moved from northern Illinois across Lake Erie and Lake Ontario Friday and along the New England coast this morning.

A second low center was in southern Indiana this morning and will follow a path farther south moving up the Ohio River Valley today and on eastward tonight.

Meanwhile, a third low pressure area over the Northern Plains is expected to push rapidly eastward into the Mississippi Valley Sunday morning and by evening was likely to be in western Ohio.

Temperatures Friday were well above the normals for mid-November with readings ranging from the low 40s in the northwestern counties to around the 50 degree mark along the Ohio River. Early this morning between .5 and one inch of rain had been measured at most reporting stations.

Rain will become intermittent this afternoon and tonight as the low moves on eastward.

The respite from the rain is likely to be rather short lived. As the next low approaches, more rain is expected to spread across Ohio on Sunday with temperatures gradually lowering to about seasonable values over the next couple of days.

OSU Wins Again

In Livestock Test

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Ohio State University won its fifth consecutive livestock judging championship in intercollegiate competition Friday at the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition.

Cardinal Bea Dies Friday

ROME (AP)—Augustin Cardinal Bea, the gentle ascetic German Jesuit who led the quest for agreement among the world's major creeds in the Roman Catholic Church, died Friday in a Rome hospital. He was 87.

Bea was a key figure at the Ecumenical Council Vatican II, where he led the liberal bishops against the entrenched position of the conservative Roman Curia, the church's central administrative body.

Outside the church Bea, who could converse easily in five languages, won support of many Protestant and Orthodox leaders for his enunciation of man's right to choose his own religion—or no religion.

His early years at the Vatican were spent as a scholar and Biblical historian. Later he became Pope Pius XII's confessor.

But it was Pope John XIII who made him a cardinal in 1959 and appointed him to head the new Secretariat for the Union of Christians, where he worked to bridge the gaps within the Christian church.

Father Released On Lower Bail In Death Plot

NEW YORK (AP)—A Yemeni Arab accused of plotting to assassinate President-elect Richard M. Nixon has been released on $25,000 bond.

"I love America—I'm innocent," said Ahmed Ragueh Namer, 43, in his lawyer's office Friday after his release.

Namer's lawyer, Joseph Iovino, said Namer's bond was raised by Namer's friends and neighbors who put up $70 collateral. He said there was insufficient money to cover the $25,000 bail on each of Namer's sons, Hussein, 20, and Abeo, 18, who were indicted with their father Wednesday on charges of criminal conspiracy and illegal possession of weapons.

The bail had been reduced from $100,000 each, set Wednesday.

Calabrese May Seek Leadership

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—State Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22, Cleveland, says he will run for minority leader of the Ohio Senate if two other Democrats with more seniority do not.

Calabrese said Friday he would seek the spot if Sen. Frank W. King, D-11, Toledo, the current minority leader, steps down, and if the leadership post is not sought by Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-33, Youngstown.

Play About Shakespeare Explores Era With Fervor

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP)—What

Shakespeare might have been doing just before immortality set in is considered with engaging fervor in "A Cry of Players," which opened Thursday night at Lincoln Center's Beumont Theater.

The drama by William Gibson won't settle any of the classic arguments about how the man from Stratford wrote masterpieces. But the device of fictional biography focuses and illuminates the endless conflict currently known as the generation gap.

By turns wildly passionate and touchingly tender, the story examines first the rebellion of 20-plus Will against the small-town restraints of marriage to 30-up Anne.

When a band of strolling players arrives to intensify restlessness, Gibson adroitly expands his costumed allegory to a broader canvas. For, by complications better appreciated in viewing than in summary, the climactic confrontation is the age-old struggle to individual conscience versus established authority.

In the central role, Frank Langella as a lanky youth of uninhibited sensuality and bumptious poetry, is convincing even when the motivations of his author aren't completely

"We're trying to do something nobody else has done before," he said on the CBS Cinema Center Films location of "A Man Called Horse."

"We're trying to give a true picture of the Indian... his customs and traditions and way of life."

Howard pointed out, however, this is not a documentary. "It's drama with a historical setting that's never been done like this," he said, "but it's not a redskin-paleface adventure."

The buffalo manure bit is an illustration of the producer's insistence on authenticity. More than 20 percent of the dialogue, for example, will be in the original Sioux tongue, Lakota. Mrs.

"We're using actors who will be understood visually, even if their speech isn't. That means they're going to have to be good at pantomime," Howard said.

Howard and Director Elliot

Oliver Prettybird, a Sioux, is teaching the language phonetically to Richard Harris (as the first white man ever seen by the tribe), Dame Judith Anderson (famous for her classic Greek and Shakespearean portrayals) as Buffalo Cowhide, Corinna Tsopeo as Running Deer, and others.

Negroes May Quit Kent

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Members of the Black United Students (BUS) said Friday they would call on all Negro students to "pack up and leave" Kent State University Monday unless demands for an amnesty for students who took part in a demonstration were granted.

The amnesty demands resulted from university action Thursday in which one student had been charged with violating Kent State's "riot act" during a six-hour demonstration Wednesday.

Students staged a sit-in Wednesday to protest the presence on campus of recruiters from the Oakland, Calif., police department.

Members of the Students for a Democratic Society also demanded an amnesty and representatives of the group met Friday with black students to discuss the situation.

University officials had said eight more students would be charged in connection with the demonstration, but an interview between the protesters and Dean of Students Robert Matson was postponed until Monday.

Russian Roulette Ends In Death For AWOL GI

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A game of Russian Roulette ended in tragedy Friday for an 18-year-old Cleveland youth.

Police said Lance Cpl. Daniel Arent died when he put a gun to his head and pulled the trigger twice.

Earlier Arent had held the gun containing one cartridge at the heads of two companions, aged 15 and 16, police added.

Homicide detectives said Arent fired the pistol at the two teenagers before putting it to his own head.

Arent was absent without leave from his Army unit at Ft. Bragg, N. C., police said.

The game of Russian Roulette took place at the home of Arent's 18-year-old girl friend, police added.

Xenia Faces City Strike

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—City officials are considering whether to enforce the antistrike Ferguson Act if 50 non-uniformed public employees walk out as planned Monday.

City Manager Keith Armstrong said Friday he had been briefed by law director Philip Autman on provisions of the law, which bans strikes by public employees. The act provides for dismissal of striking employees.

The strike would curtail trash and garbage collections, street repairs and street cleaning.

Armstrong said supervisory employees would attempt to keep the water filtration and sewage treatment plants operating.

The workers are represented by the Dayton Public Service Union. Contract negotiations, in progress since last summer, reportedly are deadlocked over wages and fringe benefits.

U.S. Prisoners Prove Expensive

SIHANOUKVILLE, Cambodia (AP) — Eleven U.S. soldiers held in Cambodia are giving Prince Norodom Sihanouk a slight pain in the pocketbook.

"Their stay is too expensive," the Cambodian chief of state told visiting foreign newsmen, his eyes twinkling. "I have to pay for many good lunches for them."

The Americans were captured in July when their landing craft strayed into Cambodian waters. During the celebration of the country's 15th anniversary of independence this week, the prisoners have twice been personal guests of the prince in local French gourmet restaurants.

Good Heavens! Sachets And With Zodiac Signs

By ELEANOR ROSS

Today, I am continuing a survey of the notions department that I had previously started with an eye to little holiday gifts. It offers a wealth of suggestions, items at prices that are kind to the long lists of presents that must be bought.

One Example

For instance, may of us are intrigued with our own horoscope and zodiac signs, these days. So one house has come up with a line of sachet squares and wafers to tuck in drawers, closet hangers, stowaways, jewel boxes and weekend cases. The sachets are printed with the 12 signs for each month, the design on a white background.

Also noted was an entire sachet set of multi-color daisy print for everything from a lingerie case, shoe trees, hangers, to a bed caddy catch-all.

Teenagers will enjoy mini critters such as cats, dogs, lions, bears, hippos, not forgetting alligators, all nice and small and all nicely scented. Made to dangle from a closet shelf, they'd be at home in any youngster's room.

Pick Your 'Shape'

Pillows of various shapes are sure to be welcomed. I saw a line of machine-washable, dirt-resistant ones covered in a "percussion" of abstract prints. The unusual shapes include teardrops, crescents, arrowhead and amoebas, etc., etc.

Selling well is a European-styled metal cover for standard telephones. It is finished with an antique gold and twisting vine motif for a decorative effect.

Another sure-fire hit is a small but powerful hand vacuum that comes with five attachments. A strong grip handle, 15 foot cord, and long nozzle make last-minute cleaning quick to do. It is just the "ticket" for the single room layout where closet space is at a premium. You might get it for the boy or girl away at college.

Easy To Please

Bandit Gets $80,000

CINCINNATI (AP) — A massive police hunt was being conducted today for a man who staged what is believed to be the biggest robbery ever of a financial institution in the Cincinnati area.

The bandit herded eight employees of the suburban White Oak branch of the Southern Ohio Bank into a vault, held them at bay with a gun, and escaped Friday with about $80,000.

No one was hurt in the holdup but the robber's gun accidentally discharged as he attempted to load money into sacks and ricocheted before striking a counter in front of the employees.

Manager Jerry Rohrer said the man entered the institution shortly before 6 p.m. — closing time — and asked about a car loan. Assistant Manager Louis Grand sat down with the man and after a bank worker locked the doors, the bandit stood up, announcing it was a holdup, and immediately began to corral the employees into the vault.

The bandit, who apparently fled in an auto with Kentucky license plates, was described as looking "like a professional football player." Rohrer said the man was clean cut, stood over 6-foot and weighed about 230 pounds.

Cauliflower's In Bloom At Peak Of Freshness

By ALICE DENHOFF

Cauliflower is crisp and crunchy when served raw; tender and delicately flavored when cooked. A four-season vegetable — September through November are the peak months — cauliflower should be refrigerated until ready to use. But if the vegetable is not prewrapped when purchased, store in the hydrator or wrap in transparent film.

Here are some interesting, excellent recipes.

CAULIFLOWER WITH SWISS-ONION SAUCE

1 large head cauliflower
1/4 c. butter or margarine
1 c. finely chopped onions
1/2 c. milk
8 oz. process Swiss cheese, cut into small cubes
1/4 c. minced parsley
1/2 tsp. prepared mustard

Remove green stalks and outer leaves from cauliflower. Rinse cauliflower with cold water. Place in small amount of boiling water. Cook, covered, until just tender, about 20 to 25 min. Drain.

Meanwhile, melt butter; add onions and saute until tender and golden. Add remaining ingredients. Heat and stir until the cheese melts. Serve sauce over cauliflower.

SWISS STEAK

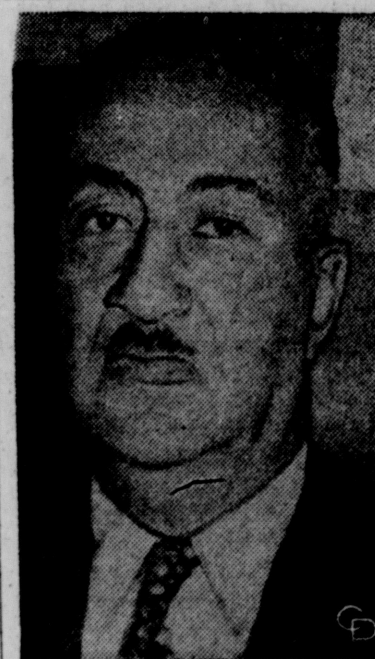

2 lb. beef round, cut 1/2" thick
1-3 c. flour
1 tsp. salt

1/4 tsp. pepper
3 to 4 tbsp. salad oil
1/2 c. water
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 medium-sized head cauliflower
2 tbsp. chopped parsley
Cut meat into 4 serving pieces. Coat with mixture of flour, salt, and pepper. Brown meat on both sides in hot oil. Add next 2 ingredients. Cover and simmer slowly for 1 hour, turning meat occasionally. (Add a little more water if necessary.)

Meanwhile, remove green stalk with outer leaves from cauliflower. Rinse cauliflower with cold water. Separate into flowers. Add to meat and baste with liquid in pan. Cook, covered, until just tender, about 30 min. Serve with sprinkling of chopped parsley.

FRENCH FRIED CAULIFLOWERETS

1 large head cauliflower
1/4 c. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 egg
1/2 c. water
Salad oil for frying
Remove green stalk with outer leaves from cauliflower. Rinse cauliflower with cold water and dry thoroughly with paper towels. Break cauliflower into flowerets (cut large flowerets in halves). Combine next 4 ingredients; beat well. Dip flowerets in batter. Fry, a few pieces at a time, in 1/2" salad oil preheated to 370 degrees, until golden brown, about 5 min. Drain on absorbent paper. Remove to heated platter.
Serves 6.

Good Heavens! Sachets And With Zodiac Signs

By ELEANOR ROSS
Today, I am continuing a survey of the notions department that I had previously started with an eye to little holiday gifts. It offers a wealth of suggestions, items at prices that are kind to the long lists of presents that must be bought.
One Example
For instance, may of us are intrigued with our own horoscope and zodiac signs, these days. So one house has come up with a line of sachet squares and wafers to tuck in drawers, closet hangers, stowaways, jewel boxes and weekend cases. The sachets are printed with the 12 signs for each month, the design on a white background.
Also noted was an entire sachet set of multi-color daisy print for everything from a lingerie case, shoe trees, hangers, to a bed caddy catchall.
Teenagers will enjoy mini critters such as cats, dogs, lions, bears, hippos, not forgetting alligators, all nice and small and all nicely scented. Made to dangle from a closet shelf, they'd be at home in any youngster's room.
Pick Your 'Shape'
Pillows of various shapes are sure to be welcomed. I saw a line of machine-washable, dirt-resistant ones covered in a "percussion" of abstract prints. The unusual shapes include teardrops, crescents, arrowhead and amoebas, etc., etc.
Selling well is a European-styled metal cover for standard telephones. It is finished with an antique gold and twisting vine motif for a decorative effect.

Another sure-fire hit is a small but powerful hand vacuum that comes with five attachments. A strong grip handle, 15 foot cord, and long nozzle make last-minute cleaning quick to do. It is just the "ticket" for the single room layout where closet space is at a premium. You might get it for the boy or girl away at college.
Easy To Please
There's a fine array of items to delight the home seamstress on your list. A clever notion is a stackable, slim "vue-thru" rectangular sewing chest, that makes it easy to find sewing notions. Twin lift-up covers give access to 30 spools of thread, 2 thumbles, 8-inch scissors, 16 bobbins, buttons, pin cushion, and accessories.
You might also consider some of the newly packaged accessories to help the seamstress maintain her sewing machine more efficiently. An assortment, nicely gift-wrapped, is sure to delight the beginner.
Useful Chest
To hold all those new toys given to small fry, there's a useful jumbo toy chest fashioned of sturdy corrugated board with circus figures in blue and red for kiddy appeal. The lift-off lid and side gripper clots mean convenience.
And you just know who is going to enjoy any convenience when it comes to picking up the kids' toys.

Laguna Win Sparks Battle Among Boxing Spectators

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Madison Square Garden got its baptism of whiskey and wine bottles and stray chairs Friday night in a wild demonstration after the main event of a fight show.

When Ismael Laguna of Panama, former lightweight champion, was given a majority decision over Roman Blanco of Venezuela by way of Puerto Rico, the trouble started.

Ringside spectators scattered for the exits and reporters and the referee crawled under the ring while pieces of glass bounced off chairs and showed the fugitives.

Cincy Royals Lose, 116-105, To Celtics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Tale of Four Cities — or A Gruelling Way to Drop out of First Place. That's the latest chapter of the Cincinnati Royals' episodes in the National Basketball Association.

In first place in the NBA's Eastern Division with an 8-2 record, the Royals opened a four-straight-day, four-city tour with a 126-115 victory over the Bulls at Baltimore.

They finished it Friday night in third place with a 10-4 mark after losing 116-105 to the Celtics in Boston.

The Royals go home tonight to play Atlanta before finally getting a rest Sunday.

Meanwhile Baltimore, 12-4 is in first place, ahead of Boston, 9-3 after outdoing the Milwaukee Bucks 129-102 Friday night.

In other action, Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 115-115, Los Angeles stopped San Diego 127-119, San Francisco turned back Detroit and Seattle edged Phoenix 128-124 in two overtimes.

Player-coach Bill Russell sent Cincinnati out of first place when he sparked a 10-point Boston surge that broke an 0-0 tie by turning in a three-point play in the third period.

Baltimore outscored Milwaukee 39-19 to increase an 82-80 lead to a commanding 121-90 bulge with just over three minutes left in the game.

Two missed foul shots and a pair of good ones spelled the difference in the Philadelphia-Atlanta game. With Atlanta leading 115-114 and seven second left, Walt Hazzard missed two free throws that would have clinched it for the Hawks. Bill Cunningham then made two with two second remaining to win it for Philadelphia.

Zane Trace Rolls Over Western, 89-51

Reisinger Collects
28 Points To Pace
Pioneers' 2nd Win

Zane Trace rolled over visiting Western of Pike County, 89-51, Friday for the second win in as many starts for the Pioneers.

Four Zane Trace cagers scored in double figures, led by Jeff Reisinger.

Reisinger hit 11 buckets from the field, added six at the charity stripe for a total of 28. He also pulled down 22 rebounds in the game.

Other twin figure scorers in the tilt for the Pioneers were Chip Maxwell with 19, Dan Ratcliff with 18 and Mike Seymour with 13.

MAXWELL had 12 rebounds and Ratcliff eight.

Zane Trace blew the game open in the second quarter when the Pioneers notched 17 points in a row while holding Western scoreless.

In the second half, Western pressed, and the Pioneers had little difficulty beating the press.

"The score really doesn't indicate how good Western is," Zane Trace Coach Ron Hall said.

"We got hot in the second quarter. Then they had to press and we were able to beat the press. We got a lot of easy buckets in the second half. If their press had worked, it would have been a different game.

Tonight Zane Trace plays Bright Local, a new consolidation in Highland County.

The Zane Trace reserves made it a perfect night, defeating Western junior varsity cagers, 31-37.

Laurelville lost their third game of the season Friday to Huntington in a tight 80-78 battle.

Mike Kneee was top scorer again for the Wildcats with 26 points.

Huntington trailed at the end of the first quarter. They took the lead by the end of the half and Laurelville never caught up.

The Huntsmen scoring was dominated by Cox with 24 points. The Wildcats attempted a comeback in the last quarter but time ran out before they were able to even the tally.

Laurelville won the reserve game with the little Wildcats stumping the Huntington Huntsmen 62-44.

The Wildcats play at home tonight in a non-conference game with the Southeastern Panthers.

Piccolo To Lead Bears Against Atlanta

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bears' National Football League game against Atlanta Sunday. It should be a moment of great joy for him but it isn't.

That's because Piccolo is replacing Gale Sayers and while a player can occupy Sayers' spot on the field, it's quite another thing to replace him. Sayers, of course, is out for the season with torn ligaments and cartilage in his right knee.

"This isn't the way I wanted it," says Piccolo. "Gale should be out there."

In other NFL action Sunday, Cleveland is at Pittsburgh, St. Louis at Baltimore, Minnesota at Detroit, Los Angeles at San Francisco, New Orleans vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Atlanta at Chicago, Philadelphia at New York and Dallas at Washington.

Piccolo picked up 67 yards in 18 carries after replacing Sayers last Sunday. Gale had 32 yards in 11 carries and 856 for the season—second best in the league—before the accident.

The Bears have won four straight with rookie Virgil Carter at quarterback and share the NFL's Central Division lead with Minnesota.

The Vikings, sky-high after dropping Green Bay last Sunday, hope for as strong a defensive show against Detroit this week as they had against the Packers. They dumped Bart Starr five times, blocked a field goal and jarred the Packers into two costly fourth period fumbles.

The Lions ended a 14-quarter draught with their first TD scored by the offense since Oct. 20, but still lost to Baltimore last week.

The Colts, sharing the Coastal Division lead with Los Angeles, run up against the hot Cardinals, who have not lost in five weeks. Jim Hart passed for 353 yards last Sunday as the Cardinals wiped out a three-touchdown Pittsburgh lead and battled the Steelers to a 28-28 tie.

Earl Morrall continues to pilot the Colts and together with a devastating defense which has permitted just two touchdowns in the last three weeks, he has kept Baltimore neck and neck with the Rams.

Los Angeles, too, has been doing it with defense. The Rams have allowed 111 points—only three more than league-leading Baltimore. They beat Atlanta by a touchdown last week with some clutch running from Tommy Mason and Willie Ellison. John Brodie passed for 199 yards and two TDs but suffered four interceptions against Chicago as the 49ers lost their fifth game last week.

Green Bay tries to climb back into the Central Division picture against New Orleans. The world champion Packers have lost four and tied one in five division games this year. Over-all, they're 3-5-1 and 1½ games back of both Detroit and Minnesota.

Cleveland, clinging to a one-half game edge in the Century Division, has won four straight and five in the last six weeks. The Browns have the NFL's leading rusher in Leroy Kelly, who has gained 890 yards in 144 carries. Pittsburgh, after dropping six straight, has not lost in three weeks.

New York closed to within one game of Dallas in the Capitol Division race by knocking off the Cowboys last Sunday. The Giants could tie for the lead by beating winless Philadelphia and getting some help from Washington, which hosts Dallas.

Minnesota Pipers Defeat Indiana Pacers, 105-95

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Indiana Pacers' first game under Bob Leonard Friday night had the same ending as seven of their nine under Larry Staverman—an unhappy one.

Connie Hawkins scored 35 points and grabbed 20 rebounds to spark the Minnesota Pipers to a 105-95 victory and spoil Leonard's coaching debut in the American Basketball Association.

Hawkins broke a 76-all tie at the start of the fourth period and also held Indiana's Mel Daniels to 12 points. The triumph gave the Pipers a 6-2 record and a one-game lead over Kentucky in the Eastern Division. Indiana dropped deeper into the cellar with a 2-8 mark.

In the only other action, Miami trailed New Orleans for three periods and then swept past the Buccaneers 102-91. The Floridians went ahead for the first time 73-72 with 10:39 left and took control in the closing minutes.

College Bowl Game Riddles May Get Unraveling Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The annual riddle of which teams will play in college football's bowl games should get some unraveling today. At least selectors should get a clearer line on whom they want.

One Rose Bowl berth was expected to be filled by the outcome of the big Pacific-8 game between Southern California and Oregon State, each with a 4-0 conference record.

The Rose Bowl spot, which goes to the Big Ten champion, probably won't be decided until the Ohio State-Michigan game next week.

The Orange Bowl also apparently has filled one spot, with Penn State. The Orange also would like to get Georgia, but the Bulldogs reportedly have a no-strings-attached invitation to the Sugar Bowl, although no official invitation can be made until Monday under NCAA regulations.

Kansas and Auburn also are being mentioned for the Orange Bowl.

Tennessee is a strong contender for the Sugar Bowl. Others being considered are Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas and Texas. However, either Arkansas or Texas could wind up in the Cotton Bowl as the Southwest Conference champion.

Southern Methodist and Texas

Tech also are in the race for the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. Missouri or one of the top Southeastern Conference teams is likely to get the other spot.

It could be Alabama against one of the Southwest Conference losers in the Gator Bowl.

Auburn, Alabama and a Southwestern Conference team are being mentioned for the Bluebonnet Bowl. Mississippi, Auburn, Alabama and a Southwest team are being thought of for the Liberty Bowl. The Sun Bowl pairing could be Mississippi and Wyoming.

Decisions on pairings for the many smaller bowls also will be reached today.

Columbus Defeats Toledo, 5-3, In IHL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus broke a six-game losing streak by defeating Toledo 5-3 in an International Hockey League game here Friday night. Columbus rookie Doug Volmar who promised to average a goal a game, scored two more for 15 in 12 games.

Girl Jockey Set To Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Pretty Penny Ann Early prepared to take the track aboard Bo Tree at Churchill Downs today, amid unconfirmed reports that male jockeys might boycott the race.

Miss Early, 25, received her first assignment Friday afternoon when the owner of Bo Tree authorized the blonde jockey to ride the 2-year-old colt in the first race.

Florine Stelzig, the owner, said "Penny and I have been friends a long time. I have every faith in her."

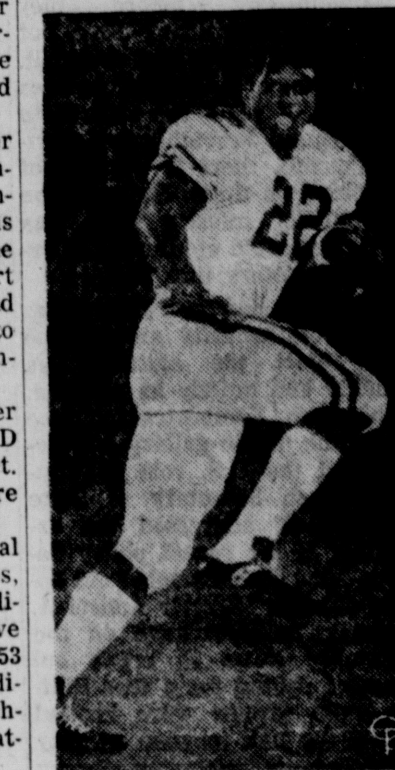

Later, there were unconfirmed reports that male jockeys would refuse to ride in the first race and possibly boycott the entire card if Miss Early is permitted to race.

If she does, the petite rider would become the first woman in modern history to compete as a professional jockey.

Jamie Rivers Put On Inactive List

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Linebacker Jamie Rivers of the St. Louis Cardinals has been placed on the inactive list for four weeks.

Rivers, 21-year-old rookie from Bowling Green State University, was hurt Sunday in a National Football League game with Pittsburgh.

TOP SCORER—The nation's leading rusher and top scorer is Eugene (Mercury) Morris, sizzling halfback for West Texas State University. Morris has piled up 18 touchdowns and 1,459 yards rushing with one game to go.

Turbine Racers In Bobby Ball Memorial Race

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Ideal racing weather is expected Sunday for the two turbines entered in the 200-mile U.S. Auto Club Bobby Ball Memorial Race at the Phoenix International Raceway.

The weather forecast called for partly cloudy skies and cooler temperatures. A rain storm was scheduled to leave Arizona late today.

Two turbines are entered in the annual race, one by Parnelli Jones and the other by Andy Granatelli. Jones said Friday the colder the temperature the better for his car.

A strong battle also is expected between the turbo-charged Offies and Fords in the 24-car field. Defending national champion A.J. Foyt said he expected to win if his turbo-Ford finishes. Battling Foyt will be Mario Andretti, also in an Offenhauser.

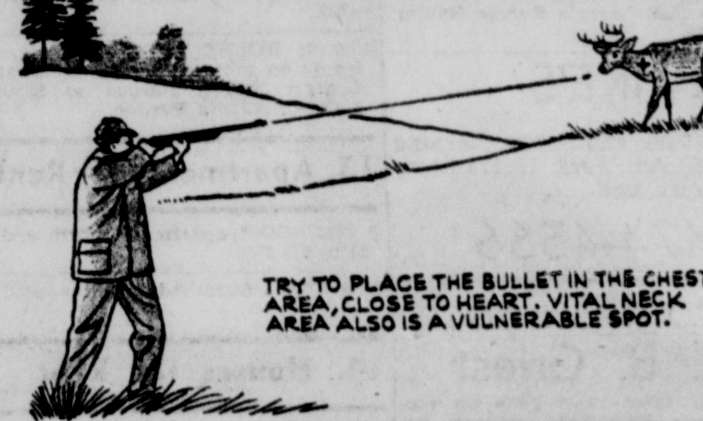

Assemble New Car

MODENA, Italy (AP) — The Stangullini Stable announced today that its factory is assembling a new formula 3 auto racing car with a 1,300 CC fiat motor. The new single-seater is expected to be ready for the next racing season.

Laguna Win Sparks Battle Among Boxing Spectators

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Madison Square Garden got its baptism of whiskey and wine bottles and stray chairs Friday night in a wild demonstration after the main event of a fight show.

When Ismael Laguna of Panama, former lightweight champion, was given a majority decision over Roman Blanco of Venezuela by way of Puerto Rico, the trouble started.

Ringside spectators scattered for the exits and reporters and the referee crawled under the ring while pieces of glass bounced off chairs and showered the fugitives.

Cincy Royals Lose, 116-105, To Celtics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Tale of Four Cities — or A Gruelling Way to Drop out of First Place. That's the latest chapter of the Cincinnati Royals' episodes in the National Basketball Association.

In first place in the NBA's Eastern Division with an 8-2 record, the Royals opened a four-straight-day, four-city tour with a 126-115 victory over the Bulls at Baltimore.

They finished it Friday night in third place with a 10-4 mark after losing 116-105 to the Celtics in Boston.

The Royals go home tonight to play Atlanta before finally getting a rest Sunday.

Meanwhile Baltimore, 12-4 is in first place, ahead of Boston, 9-3 after outdoing the Milwaukee Bucks 129-102 Friday night.

In other action, Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 115-115, Los Angeles stopped San Diego 127-119, San Francisco turned back Detroit and Seattle edged Phoenix 128-124 in two overtimes.

Player-coach Bill Russell sent Cincinnati out of first place when he sparked a 10-point Boston surge that broke an 0-0 tie by turning in a three-point play in the third period.

Baltimore outscored Milwaukee 39-19 to increase an 82-80 lead to a commanding 121-90 bulge with just over three minutes left in the game.

Two missed fouls shots and a pair of good ones spelled the difference in the Philadelphia-Atlanta game. With Atlanta leading 115-114 and seven second left, Walt Hazzard missed two free throws that would have clinched it for the Hawks. Bill Cunningham then made two with two second remaining to win it for Philadelphia.

Zane Trace Rolls Over Western, 89-51

Reisinger Collects 28 Points To Pace Pioneers' 2nd Win

Zane Trace rolled over visiting Western of Pike County, 89-51, Friday for the second win in as many starts for the Pioneers.

Four Zane Trace cagers scored in double figures, led by Jeff Reisinger.

Reisinger hit 11 buckets from the field, added six at the charity stripe for a total of 28. He also pulled down 22 rebounds in the game.

Other twin figure scorers in the tilt for the Pioneers were Chip Maxwell with 19, Dan Ratcliff with 18 and Mike Seymour with 13.

MAXWELL had 12 rebounds and Ratcliff eight.

Zane Trace blew the game open in the second quarter when the Pioneers notched 17 points in a row while holding Western scoreless.

In the second half, Western pressed, and the Pioneers had little difficulty beating the press.

"The score really doesn't indicate how good Western is," Zane Trace Coach Ron Hall said.

"We got hot in the second quarter. Then they had to press and we were able to beat the press. We got a lot of easy buckets in the second half. If their press had worked, it would have been a different game.

Tonight Zane Trace plays Bright Local, a new consolidation in Highland County.

The Zane Trace reserves made it a perfect night, defeating Western junior varsity cagers, 31-37.

U.N. Security Boss Has Big Job

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(AP) — When he became U.N.
security chief, Lt. Col. Harold
A. Trimble thought the job
would be a challenge. Five months of dealing with demonstrators, VIP's and a threatened guard strike have convinced
him he was right.

"Something different is going on all the time," said the tall, trim Canadian with the bearing
of a military career man. "It certainly keeps you on your toes."

Trimble is not only responsible for protecting delegates, visiting dignitaries and everyone else who streams through the 18-acre U.N. complex each day.
His 180-man guard force must keep hecklers out of the debating halls and prying individuals from haunting the delegates' lounge or infiltrating 35 floors of offices where the 2,000-member
secretariat staff works.

The guards try to intercept troublemakers before they reach the admissions desk, but it is impossible to spot them all.
And when a delegation secures
a block of seats for visitors to the General Assembly or Security Council, there is no way of checking on them. At least one Communist mission here has been suspected of slipping in organized rioters this way.

When a demonstration does erupt, the security men in the area eject the agitators as quickly and quietly as possible.
Nine such demonstrators rose up in the public gallery and denounced the U.S. role in Vietnam when Secretary of State Dean Rusk addressed the assembly in the recent policy debate. Nine others singled out Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A.
Gromyko's appearance on the assembly stage to break out banners calling for a free Biafra.
Both groups were hustled out of the hall as soon as they begin their pitch.

"In each case," said Trimble,
"the demonstrators came in separately and, to me at least,
each looked like a normal visitor. It is virtually impossible to avert such outbursts. You just get rid of them as fast as you can."

If real violence was involved, as in 1961 when a group of demonstrators armed with bicycle chains and other crude weapons broke into the Security Council, the rioters are turned over to the New York police. But usually they are merely escorted to the gate and asked to leave.

Trimble ran into a problem no other U.N. official had faced when more than 100 members of the guard force called in sick on Oct. 22 to dramatize their demands for higher pay. It was the first work stoppage that had ever occurred in the United Nations and the prospect of 39 floors and three basements virtually unguarded caused considerable apprehension.

Trimble took the situation in stride and managed to get through the day without serious incident by deploying the handful of men he had on duty and barring all visitors from the public galleries.

The colonel, who looks younger than his 52 years, was a natural choice for the post vacated last June when John J. Cosgrove retired as security boss.

"I spent three years here as military adviser to the Canadian mission," Trimble said,
"and I knew many of the delegates and secretariat officials.
As a matter of fact, it was generally known here that I was about to retire and was interested in this kind of work."

Trimble and his wife live in an apartment near U.N. headquarters on the East River. His daughter is married to a pilot in Canada's armed forces, and a son was recently commissioned after graduating from military college there.

TRANSITION LOOKS SMOOTH if this White House meeting between President-elect Nixon and President Johnson is indicative. Nixon says don't look for much change in foreign policy after he takes office.

U.N. Security Boss Has Big Job

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(AP) — When he became U.N.
security chief, Lt. Col. Harold
A. Trimble thought the job
would be a challenge. Five months of dealing with demonstrators, VIP's and a threatened
guard strike have convinced
him he was right.

"Something different is going
on all the time," said the tall,
trim Canadian with the bearing
of a military career man. "It
certainly keeps you on your toes."

Trimble is not only responsible for protecting delegates, visiting dignitaries and everyone
else who streams through the 18-acre U.N. complex each day.
His 180-man guard force must
keep hecklers out of the debating halls and prying individuals from haunting the delegates' lounge or infiltrating 35 floors of offices where the 2,000-member
secretariat staff works.

The guards try to intercept
troublemakers before they reach the admissions desk, but it is impossible to spot them all.
And when a delegation secures
a block of seats for visitors to the General Assembly or Security Council, there is no way of checking on them. At least one
Communist mission here has been suspected of slipping in organized rioters this way.

Jets To Face Oakland, San Diego

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Jets, already a cinch winner in the Eastern Division, launch phase one of their role Sunday to help determine the team they will face in the American Football League's championship showdown.

The Jets, owners of a bulging 3½-game lead in their division, step into the thick of the Western Division chase—tightest in AFL history—for a two-game West Coast swing.

They take on Oakland Sunday, then meet San Diego the following week—the two teams currently locked in second place with 7-2 records, just one half game behind Kansas City 8-2.

A pair of Jet victories would not only assure them of their first Eastern title ever, but also could help set up Kansas City as the Jets' foe for the right to move on to the Sugar Bowl.

New York's magic number is only two for clinching the title—any combination of Jet victories and Boston or Houston losses totaling two gives the Jets the crown.

The Raiders may have to combat New York with the oldest player in the league—40-year-old George Blanda—handling the quarterback duties again.

A decision on whether injured Daryle Lamonia would start was not expected to be made until game time. Blanda filled in last week and rifled four touchdown passes in a 43-7 blasting of Denver—the Raiders third straight since a loss to Kansas City.

The Chiefs and the Chargers meanwhile, aren't expected to have much difficulty winning. Kansas City plays host to Boston, 3-6, while San Diego goes to Buffalo, 1-8-1, Denver, 4-5 is at Houston and Cincinnati, 2-8, at Miami, 3-5-1, in other league games.

Boston's big chore in trying to stop a three-game losing streak will be to contain the Chiefs' rookie Robert Holmes, who carried 21 times for 158 yards and caught all five of Kansas City's completions for 62 yards in a 16-9 victory over Cincinnati last week. The Pats gave San Diego a rugged battle most of the way last week before finally losing, 27-17.

Buffalo faces a murderous task in attempting to stop the Chargers' John Hadl-led attack, the most potent in the league. And, the Bills have to do it with a lineup riddled with injuries. Even rookie quarterback Dan Darragh, who is subbing for a sub, is injured and may not be able to play.

If quarterback Steve Tensi can bounce back from a poor showing against San Diego, reviving Denver could make it a long afternoon for Houston, in second place in the Eastern Division despite only a 4-6 record.

Cincinnati rookie Paul Robinson, who has taken over the league rushing lead, will be looking for his fourth straight 100-yards-plus showing against Miami, which has the league's worst defense.

North Viet Reds Setting Up Political Role In South

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Apparently anticipating an end to the war, the southern arm of North Vietnam's Communist party is clanking years of clandestine political activity by creating a Soviet-style grass roots government across South Vietnam.

It is similar to the "Revolutionary Administration" that seized power from the French in North Vietnam at the end of the Indochina war. It already exists throughout five provinces and in more than a thousand villages and hamlets, U.S. officials say. U.S. Mission officials see in the emerging political apparatus a Communist attempt to legitimize their control over the parts of South Vietnam they have dominated for years, and also as a prelude to an announcement that a functioning government elected by the people exists in the countryside as a parallel to the Saigon government.

This claim is seen as the next logical step in the evolution of an insurgency that has involved the United States in its longest shooting war. It would also climax the enemy political offensive that has paralleled the 1967-68 winter-spring military offensive.

American officials have been studying the scores of captured documents and prisoner reports referring to the establishment of the new administration. They say that deadlines have been missed and there has been considerable confusion by field cadres.

"But the Communists are proceeding with it quite seriously," one knowledgeable official commented. "The Communists are telling the people that authority is being returned to them after more than 20 years of struggle. They are told this is the victory promised them last year at the beginning of the winter-spring offensive."

The "Revolutionary Administration" differs from the National Liberation Front—NLF—and the various alliances formed earlier this year in that it is an administrative organization while the others are purely fronts.

Pension Fund Crisis Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The question of how cities should be required to pay off the nearly $500 million deficit in the Police and Firemen Pension Fund was aired by a legislative study committee Friday.

The committee is preparing recommendations for the legislature in an effort to help the cities relieve the financial burden.

The multitude of police and firemen's pension funds around the state were consolidated into one giant fund by the 1965 legislature. Many cities have been hard pressed to meet their debts. The state contributes $1.2 million a year to the fund.

GE Celebrates 20th Anniversary In Circleville

E. G. Grigg, manager of G. E.'s Circleville Lamp Plant, has proclaimed November as "Anniversary Month" at the plant to commemorate G.E.'s 20th year of manufacturing in Circleville.

Anniversary activities at the plant will climax next week with a round of employee luncheons sponsored by the plant, including a birthday cake and ice cream in the time honored tradition of birthday parties.

Twenty years ago this month, in November of 1948, the first fluorescent lamps rolled off the production line at Circleville Lamp, Circleville Oil Co. bought the first lamps made at the local plant. Originally planned for the production of 96" long, narrow-diameter fluorescent lamps, the plant was expected to employ about 500 people engaged solely in producing that one lamp type. After large expansions in 1965 and 1966, the plant is now nearly three times its original size with employment double the initial estimate.

According to Grigg, "Technological progress in lampmaking has significantly affected our growth. We now make a wide variety of lamps, many developed since the plant was started 20 years ago. This technology has meant growth for the plant, for Circleville, and also increasing value for our customers."

GRIGG first came to Circleville in May, 1948, as a fledgling plant manager at the relatively tender age of 34. He has chosen to remain here and guide the plant because, as he puts it, "Too seldom in modern industry do we get the opportunity to settle in one place and build a dynamic production team and grow together with the community. Circleville to me is the ideal place to raise a family."

Of the ten men who came to Circleville in 1948 to create G. E.'s local team, four remain today: Harry Diehl, Hal Spencer, Clay Vaughan, and Grigg. Of the original locally hired production force which started making lamps here 20 years ago, seven persons still remain: Ralph DeLong, Ralph McCain, Betty Morrison, Mary Francis Poling, Florence Stahl, Wayne Stewart, and Jim Trimmer. Together these people have watched the plant progress and develop to its present size. This is a real tribute to American know-how and General Electric's engineering and lampmaking genius. The Circleville Lamp Plant is now the largest fluorescent lamp plant in the world.

With employment at its highest level ever and pumping several million payroll dollars into the community each year, General Electric has been an important force in the growth of this area. Says Grigg: "We look forward to continued growth and progress with the Circleville area. Our decision to expand the facilities here in 1958 and 1966 for a total of over $4.5 million in new investment shows what we think of the future of Circleville as a good place to do business."

Tarleton Youth Shot In Leg

A Tarleton youth was injured Friday afternoon when a revolver he was carrying accidentally discharged a bullet, which struck him in the leg.

Gail Hinton, 15, told sheriff's deputies that he had been out hunting with his father's revolver. He stated that while on the way home he dropped the gun from its holster and it fired, striking him in the right leg between the knee and the hip.

Hinton was taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment and was informed that the bullet had not damaged any bones.

Woman Hurt In Accident

Mary H. Hagan, 29, Route 1, Lockbourne, was injured slightly at 3:34 a.m. today when she lost control of her car on Duval Road one-half mile east of Route 23.

She was east-bound when the accident occurred. Mrs. Hagan was taken to Lockbourne Air Force Base Hospital where she was treated for injuries and released.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

This letter is directed to the residents of Pickaway County concerning Stephen Knece, a young man from our county, who is fighting a battle for a normal life. Stephen and his family need reinforcements. There are two battlefields — one is the small hospital room in Columbus and the Knece home is the second.

The leaders of Pickaway County are making an all-out effort to help meet medical expenses and to save the Knece home from the creditors. God bless them and their supporters.

Yet there are a few other problems: 1. The expenses of the family traveling to and from the hospital. The paper states Stephen will be in the hospital at least two months. That's a lot of gas and oil, plus wear and tear on the family auto.

Suggested solution: a good hearted car dealer. Filling station dealers could help out with gas. 2. Mrs. Knece still has a house and family at home to care for. 3. Stephens' needs at the hospital.

Two and three can be taken care of with money. A fund has been started but will it make its goal? I believe it will. Now I've brought up three other problems so I'd like to offer some suggestions on how they could be met.

Stephen is eighteen. There is our answer. Teenagers: In one Sunday, the Logan Elm teenagers collected $213. Just think how much of the teenagers in the whole county could raise working together.

We are always hearing: "All you hear and read about kids today, is how much trouble they get into." Well, kids, put on a different record and folks around here will be singing a different tune.

Just put yourself in Stephen's place and see how much encouragement you would feel if you knew that every kid in the county was out there fighting for you, then multiply that feeling by 100 and you'll get part of what Stephen would feel, because he is not playing a game; it's the real thing for him. So I say to you teenagers "Get together and really sock it to 'em."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is made up of people who not so long ago were teens too. So combine your energy with their leadership and show this county and the whole state we can take care of our own.

Thanksgiving is just two weeks away. We all have many things to be thankful for. Why not make the Sunday before Thanksgiving Stephen's Sunday. It sure would be nice to make the creditors eat thin paid bills for dinner instead of turkey.

Another suggestion for the teens is for all the county bands to get together and plan one of the biggest, swiftest dances this county has ever seen.

The rest of us have many channels in which we can help also.

Church leaders, how long has it been since you have held an old-fashioned Box Supper auction? It's a real winner for making money. Grangers you can act on this also.

How about the Roundtown Players putting on a holiday play?

Country Club people how about a dance?

Would a fast ball game between Logan Elm and Circleville interest any one?

Bowling Alleys, what about a Knece Night?

Mens Clubs, did you read about Robert Borgin in Erie, Pa.? He raised money for his six-month old son's liver transplant.

He had a stag party, 1,200 men showed up at $2 a ticket. Nine grocers and two distributors came up with potato salad, cold cuts and beer. I'd say that's a legitimate night out, fellows.

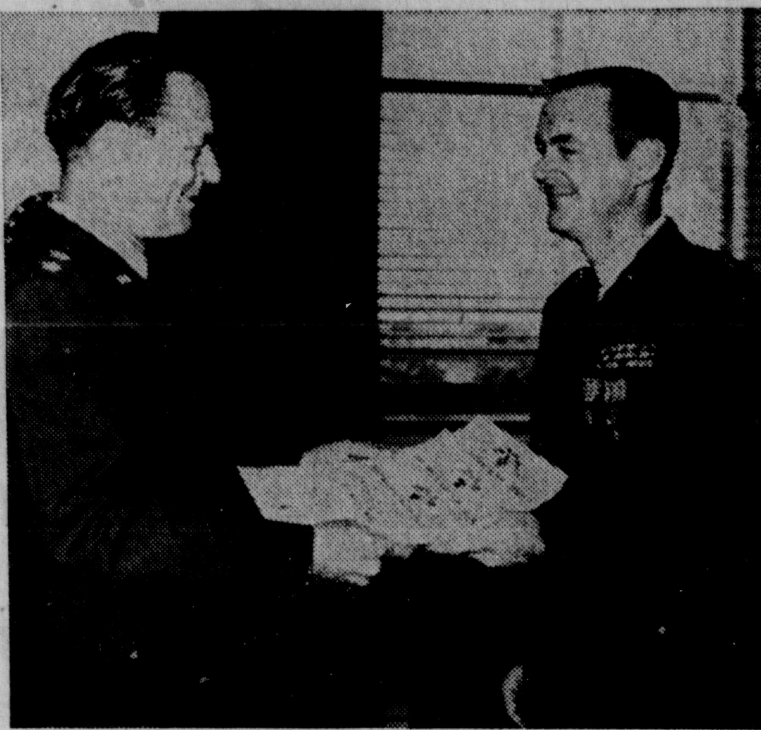

I believe the burden can be lifted off the Knece family. Let's all work together and make Thanksgiving a real thankful day for everyone.

In closing, I would like to thank you for reading my letter; I just hope in some small way it will influence everyone into doing their part.

To Steve Knece, don't worry anymore, just get well. Everything is going to be great.

Remember the saying: "When there's a will, there's a way." Someone famous said that, so it must work. Let's put it to the test.

Chief Logan FB Council Holds Meet

The November meeting of the Chief Logan Farm Bureau Council was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Strawser of Route 4.

John Strawser, vice chairman, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Orville Gifford, woman's representative, announced the annual woman's committee Christmas Luncheon. The luncheon will be held December 2, at the Wardell Party Home. Mrs. Russell Skaggs will talk on "Christmas Cookies". Reservations may be made by calling the Farm Bureau office, 474-6284.

The group made plans for their December meeting. It will be held December 10, at David's Buffet in Columbus. They will also have a gift exchange.

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's estimated that a lower percentage of persons of voting age went to the polls this month than in any presidential election since 1956. Unofficial tabulations of persons of voting age and total vote by The Associated Press show an estimated 60 per cent took part in the election.

Sixty-two per cent voted in 1964, a record 63 per cent showed up in 1960, and in 1956—the year of President Eisenhower's landslide triumph over Adlai E. Stevenson—60.5 per cent voted.

An Associated Press pre-election survey showed 90,141,43 registered to vote, compared to an estimated 120 million persons of voting age.

An estimated 72 million persons voted Nov. 4.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record avalanche of political mail was handled by postal workers this year, the Post Office Department said today.

Mail volume runs at 2 billion pieces annually, the post office said, but the monthly average during the four-week period Sept. 21 to Oct. 1 was about eight or nine billion pieces—one billion above average and a record for the political season.

The department said because of better organization and ZIP coding, it took less manpower to handle the heavy volume this year.

2 Accidents, 4 Hurt Due To Slick Roads

Wet roads were responsible for two accidents in Pickaway County during the past 24 hours, according to the sheriff's department.

Three Derby men were seriously injured in one accident and a Washington C. H. area woman in another when their cars went out of control on the slippery roads.

Taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital were Derby residents James Sharon, 22, treated for a broken leg and head lacerations; Kenny Sharon, 21, head lacerations and abrasions; John Sharon, 19, broken jaw, severe head lacerations and chest injuries.

Taken to Berger Hospital following the other accident was 43-year-old Janice Betts of Washington C. H. who received lacerations to her head and face.

The Sharon car had been westbound on Circleville-London-Northern Road about three miles west of Derby at 1:11 p.m. Saturday when James Sharon, driver of the car, lost control of his vehicle. The car slid off the south side of the road into a ditch where it traveled 150 feet before returning to the pavement.

Mrs. Betts had been south bound on Harrisburg-Darbyville Road about one mile south of Smith Road at 4:10 p.m. Friday when she lost control of her car as she applied her brakes while approaching a curve.

Both drivers were cited by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department for driving at excessive speeds for road and weather conditions.

City Firefighters Answer Two Calls

The Circleville Fire Department answered two calls within an hour Friday.

At 6:47 p.m. Mrs. Robert Phillips, 900 Lincoln Drive, summoned firefighters when a short in her electric stove started a fire.

Firemen estimated damage to the stove at $25. At 7:40 p.m., a car owned by Dave Saunders, Ashville, caught on fire at the Risch Drug Store parking lot. The blaze was blamed on an electrical short in the wiring under the dash of the car. Damage was again estimated at $25.

GE Celebrates 20th Anniversary In Circleville

E. G. Grigg, manager of G. E.'s Circleville Lamp Plant, has proclaimed November as "Anniversary Month" at the plant to commemorate G.E.'s 20th year of manufacturing in Circleville.

Anniversary activities at the plant will climax next week with a round of employee luncheons sponsored by the plant, including a birthday cake and ice cream in the time honored tradition of birthday parties.

Twenty years ago this month, in November of 1948, the first fluorescent lamps rolled off the production line at Circleville Lamp, Circleville Oil Co. bought the first lamps made at the local plant. Originally planned for the production of 96" long, narrow-diameter fluorescent lamps, the plant was expected to employ about 500 people engaged solely in producing that one lamp type. After large expansions in 1965 and 1966, the plant is now nearly three times its original size with employment double the initial estimate.

According to Grigg, "Technological progress in lampmaking has significantly affected our growth. We now make a wide variety of lamps, many developed since the plant was started 20 years ago. This technology has meant growth for the plant, for Circleville, and also increasing value for our customers."

GRIGG first came to Circleville in May, 1948, as a fledgling plant manager at the relatively tender age of 34. He has chosen to remain here and guide the plant because, as he puts it: "Too seldom in modern industry do we get the opportunity to settle in one place and build a dynamic production team and grow together with the community. Circleville to me is the ideal place to raise a family."

Of the ten men who came to Circleville in 1948 to create G. E.'s local team, four remain today: Harry Diehl, Hal Spencer, Clay Vaughan, and Grigg. Of the original locally hired production force which started making lamps here 20 years ago, seven persons still remain: Ralph DeLong, Ralph McCain, Betty Morrison, Mary Francis Poling, Florence Stahr, Wayne Stewart, and Jim Trimmer. Together these people have watched the plant progress and develop to its present size. This is a real tribute to American know-how and General Electric's engineering and lampmaking genius. The Circleville Lamp Plant is now the largest fluorescent lamp plant in the world.

With employment at its highest level ever and pumping several million payroll dollars into the community each year, General Electric has been an important force in the growth of this area. Says Grigg: "We look forward to continued growth and progress with the Circleville area. Our decision to expand the facilities here in 1958 and 1966 for a total of over $4.5 million in new investment shows what we think of the future of Circleville as a good place to do business."

Tarleton Youth Shot In Leg

A Tarleton youth was injured Friday afternoon when a revolver he was carrying accidentally discharged a bullet, which struck him in the leg.

Gail Hinton, 15, told sheriff's deputies that he had been out hunting with his father's revolver. He stated that while on the way home he dropped the gun from its holster and it fired, striking him in the right leg between the knee and the hip.

Hinton was taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment and was informed that the bullet had not damaged any bones.

Woman Hurt In Accident

Mary H. Hagan, 29, Route 1, Lockbourne, was injured slightly at 3:34 a.m. today when she lost control of her car on Duval Road one-half mile east of Route 23.

She was east-bound when the accident occurred. Mrs. Hagan was taken to Lockbourne Air Force Base Hospital where she was treated for injuries and released.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

This letter is directed to the residents of Pickaway County concerning Stephen Knece, a young man from our county, who is fighting a battle for a normal life. Stephen and his family need reinforcements. There are two battlefields — one is the small hospital room in Columbus and the Knece home is the second.

The leaders of Pickaway County are making an all-out effort to help meet medical expenses and to save the Knece home from the creditors. God bless them and their supporters. Yet there are a few other problems: 1. The expenses of the family traveling to and from the hospital. The paper states Stephen will be in the hospital at least two months. That's a lot of gas and oil, plus wear and tear on the family auto.

Suggested solution: a good hearted car dealer. Filling station dealers could help out with gas. 2. Mrs. Knece still has a house and family at home to care for. 3. Stephens' needs at the hospital.

Two and three can be taken care of with money. A fund has been started but will it make its goal? I believe it will. Now I've brought up three other problems so I'd like to offer some suggestions on how they could be met.

Stephen is eighteen. There is our answer. Teenagers: In one Sunday, the Logan Elm teenagers collected $213. Just think how much of the teenagers in the whole county could raise working together.

We are always hearing: "All you hear and read about kids today, is how much trouble they get into." Well, kids, put on a different record and folks around here will be singing a different tune.

Just put yourself in Stephen's place and see how much encouragement you would feel if you knew that every kid in the county was out there fighting for you, then multiply that feeling by 100 and you'll get part of what Stephen would feel, because he is not playing a game; it's the real thing for him. So I say to you teenagers "Get together and really sock it to 'em."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is made up of people who not so long ago were teens too. So combine your energy with their leadership and show this county and the whole state we can take care of our own.

Thanksgiving is just two weeks away. We all have many things to be thankful for. Why not make the Sunday before Thanksgiving Stephen's Sunday. It sure would be nice to make the creditors eat thin paid bills for dinner instead of turkey.

Another suggestion for the teens is for all the county bands to get together and plan one of the biggest, swiftest dances this county has ever seen.

The rest of us have many channels in which we can help also.

Church leaders, how long has it been since you have held an old-fashioned Box Supper auction? It's a real winner for making money. Grangers you can act on this also.

How about the Roundtown Players putting on a holiday play?

Country Club people how about a dance?

Would a fast ball game between Logan Elm and Circleville interest any one?

Bowling Alleys, what about a Knece Night?

Mens Clubs, did you read about Robert Borgin in Erie, Pa.? He raised money for his six-month old son's liver transplant.

He had a stag party, 1,200 men showed up at $2 a ticket. Nine grocers and two distributors came up with potato salad, cold cuts and beer. I'd say that's a legitimate night out, fellows.

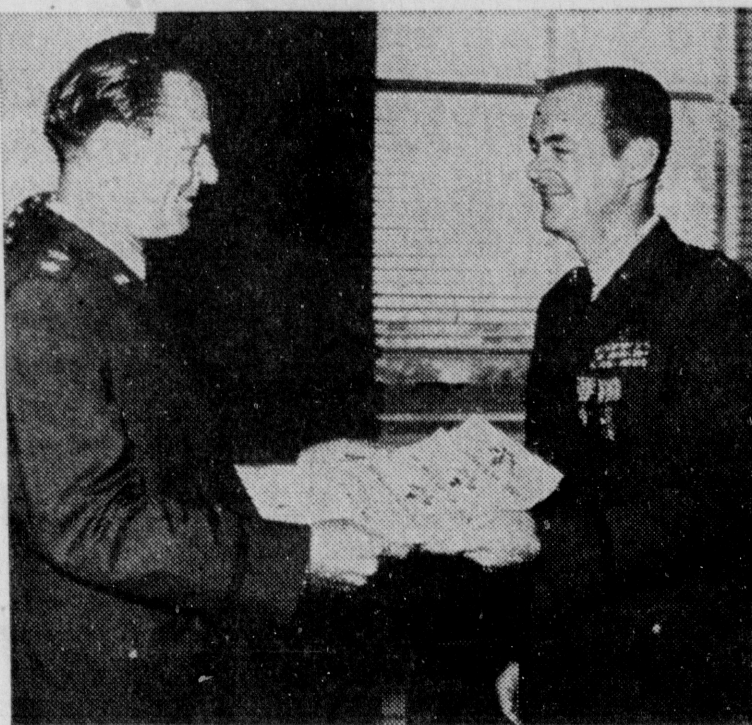

I believe the burden can be lifted off the Knece family. Let's all work together and make Thanksgiving a real thankful day for everyone.

In closing, I would like to thank you for reading my letter; I just hope in some small way it will influence everyone into doing their part.

To Steve Knece, don't worry anymore, just get well. Everything is going to be great.

Remember the saying: "When there's a will, there's a way." Someone famous said that, so it must work. Let's put it to the test.

ST. JOHANN, Austria (AP) — Two teen-age girls each received three-month prison terms for setting up a barricade on the country road intended to prevent their boyfriend from visiting a girl in a neighboring village. Besides bringing the jail term the girls' scheme backfired in other respects too: The barricade caused another motorcycleist to have an accident while the boy visited the girl via another road.

The most heavily traveled bridges during April, May and June of this year were the George Washington in New York, 17,358,802; the Triborough in New York, 14,596,560, and the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, 14,103,401. Next ranked were the Sydney Harbour Bridge in Australia, 10,243,323; Thross Neck Bridge in New York, 8,365,079, and Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco, 7,727,271.

"In this season, let us offer more than words of Thanksgiving to God. Let us resolve to offer Him the best that is within us—tolerance, respect for life, faith in the destiny of all men to live in peace."—President Johnson's Thanksgiving Day proclamation.

Two Accidents, 4 Hurt Due To Slick Roads

Wet roads were responsible for two accidents in Pickaway County during the past 24 hours, according to the sheriff's department.

Three Derby men were seriously injured in one accident and a Washington C. H. area woman in another when their cars went out of control on the slippery roads.

Taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital were Derby residents James Sharon, 22, treated for a broken leg and head lacerations; Kenny Sharon, 21, head lacerations and abrasions; John Sharon, 19, broken jaw, severe head lacerations and chest injuries.

Taken to Berger Hospital following the other accident was 43-year-old Janice Betts of Washington C. H. who received lacerations to her head and face.

The Sharon car had been westbound on Circleville-London-Northern Road about three miles west of Derby at 1:11 p.m. Saturday when James Sharon, driver of the car, lost control of his vehicle. The car slid off the south side of the road into a ditch where it traveled 150 feet before returning to the pavement.

Mrs. Betts had been southbound on Harrisburg-Darbyville Road about one mile south of Smith Road 4:10 p.m. Friday when she lost control of her car as she applied her brakes while approaching a curve.

Both drivers were cited by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department for driving at excessive speeds for road and weather conditions.

City Firefighters Answer Two Calls

The Circleville Fire Department answered two calls within an hour Friday.

At 6:47 p.m. Mrs. Robert Phillips, 900 Lincoln Drive, summoned firefighters when a short in her electric stove started a fire.

Firemen estimated damage to the stove at $25. At 7:40 p.m., a car owned by Dave Saunders, Ashville, caught on fire at the Risch Drug Store parking lot. The blaze was planned on an electrical short in the wiring under the dash of the car. Damage was again estimated at $25.
